POS SYSTEMS

Howcomputer.com is the industry expert and a leading distributor of retail and restaurant point of sale (POS) systems. We carry the entire line of HowPOS POS systems and a broad selection of POS equipment.

Today's retail POS systems consist of computers connected to other POS equipment like barcode scanners, receipt printers, pole displays, and cash drawers. These components integrate to make your customers' purchasing experiences quick, efficient and accurate. The POS software loaded on the system tracks your sales and inventory levels much more efficiently than a traditional cash register.

Restaurant POS systems will generally have touch screen monitors and use kitchen receipt printers to send orders to kitchen staff. Restaurant POS software installed on the POS system automates many tasks including table management, ingredient inventory, credit card processing and much more. For fast food, deli, takeout and delivery style eateries, we offer the HowPOS Counter Service POS restaurant system specifically designed for this niche market.

From our years of experience in the POS systems industry, we've found that HowPOS retail POS systems offer our customers the perfect combination of functionality, ease-of-use, and affordability small businesses require. The HowPOS POS system is available in Budget, Preferred, and Premium configurations, providing a variety of choices to fit your business needs.
